Dear Blessed Sacrament Families,

A not-so-smart squirrel gave our students an uncommon opportunity yesterday in the midst of one of the most important parts of Mass. Seconds before Fr. Morin held up the Eucharist, all power in the church went out and the church went dark. Father stayed as cool as a cucumber, acted as if nothing happened, and went on with raising the Eucharist to say his words of offering. I nervously looked around to see how students were reacting. They must have taken the cue from Father to go on with Mass as if nothing happened besides a little initial gasp (that I joined in on). As the Eucharist was held up high, it was hard not to get goosebumps and think, "You can't distract us, Satan!" It took about 30 seconds for the electricity to pop back on, and Mass continued on as usual. God bless our students for their reverence and calm, and may that barbequed squirrel rest in peace!

In Christ,

Mrs. Jennifer Tran
