Over the century of our school's existence, more than 100 Religious Sisters have served in our school! These women have come from three different communities - the Religious Sisters of Mercy in Omaha, the Marian Sisters of the Diocese of Lincoln, and the School Sisters of Christ the King. Just as a priest serves as a spiritual father, nourishing souls through the grace of the Sacraments, women Religious serve as spiritual mothers while doing all the ordinary things a teacher does. This month, as we continue celebrating our centennial, we offer our gratitude to all the Religious Sisters whose service has shaped our school today.
